Call for Posters

Poster abstracts are now being accepted for presentation at the University of Rochester Clinical & Translational Science Institute (UR CTSI) Translational Research Day.

Translational science aims to understand and refine the process of turning observations in the laboratory, clinic and community into interventions that improve the health of individuals and communities. Since 2006, UR CTSI has been propelling collaborations within and across URMC, and beyond, to support research without walls.

We are calling for posters from across the translational research continuum. Posters should focus on scientific and clinical evidence, as would be expected for a peer-reviewed journal. Rigorous program evaluations are also welcome.

General Information

- There is no specific poster session, per se, but being available next to your poster to answer questions for some part of the event is encouraged. Posters will be on display in the Flaum Atrium on November 11, 2022 from 9:00 am to 2:00 pm.
- Projects previously presented locally or at national meetings are welcomed for submission.
- Details of presentation:
  - Easels and backer boards will be provided for poster display.
  - Presenters are encouraged to set up their posters before the days’ events, between 8:30 am and 9 am.
  - Presenters must be registered attendees of the Translational Research Day. Click here to register; there is no charge.
- Notification of acceptance decisions will be sent via email 2-4 business days after receipt of the abstract.

Submissions:

1. Register for the Scientific Session
2. Please submit your poster abstract using the REDCap Poster Submission Link by October 21st
3. You will be asked to include the following:
   - Name
   - Email Address
   - Title of your poster
   - Size of your poster in inches or feet – this is needed to ensure the correct number of easels and backer boards
   - Poster abstract
